THE SCHOOL OF LAW

The School of Law was organized in the fall of 1909 in response to a general demand that the university should provide opportunities and facilities for legal training equal to the best afforded elsewhere. Its aim is to inculcate a sound knowledge of the common law and equity, of English and American modifications in both substantive and adjective law, of constitutional law and federal procedure and of the statutes, decisions, and practice of the state of Oklahoma. It is now generally conceded that such a result can be attained more successfully in a law school than elsewhere. The busy lawyer finds little time for the systematic instruction of the student in his office. The result is that the study tends to become desultory and unprofitable. In a law school the student has the constant help and direction of a body of trained teachers devoting their time and thought to his welfare. He has the inspiration that comes from friendly rivalry with his fellow students in the class rooms, in the quiz clubs, moot courts, and practice courts. He has the advantage of a more extensive library and of encouragement and special assistance in original investigation.

That such is the view of lawyers and judges generally is evidenced by the fact that a large and constantly increasing majority of candidates now come to the bar through the medium of law schools. Much may be said for the practical possibilities of office training, but law schools are more and more attempting, and with increasing success, to supply their former deficiencies in this regard. It is also true that those defects were never as great as has sometimes been alleged; and while it is possible though inconvenient for the young lawyer to supply them, it is nearly impossible for him to supply, after beginning actual practice, the systematic knowledge of the fundamental principles of law which the law school gives him the opportunity to acquire.

INSTRUCTORS

The School of Law, except as to the courses given by the special non-resident lecturers, is conducted by instructors who give practically their whole time and attention to university work. It is certain that the best results can be obtained in no other way. This is confirmed by the experience of the leading law schools of the country, all of which now place their work of instruction on this basis. The teaching of law is in itself a scientific vocation requiring all of one's energies.

METHODS OF INSTRUCTION

Instruction in the class room is by comment, quiz, and colloquy. It consists largely of the analysis and discussion of cases. Instead of placing before the student a set of legal principles which he is required to learn, the much more difficult task is assigned him of reading the actual opinions contained in the reports and ascertaining therefrom the law involved. He is then required to apply that law to other cases, both hypothetical and actual. In so doing he is both assisted and criticised by the instructor who guides and coordinates the discussion toward a definite end. It is believed that by this method the power of legal reasoning, discrimination, and generalization is most fully developed, and at the same time the student is obliged to exercise the same mental processes and follow the same methods of argument as those required by the skillful advocate. Copious references are continually made for extensive side reading, and students are constantly encouraged to use the library.

In the practice court, in the courses in civil procedure and criminal law and procedure, and elsewhere when deemed necessary, emphasis is laid on the law of this jurisdiction. The aim is to fit the student generally for practice in any state and to fit him especially for practice in the West and Southwest.

EXAMINATIONS

At the middle and end of each year careful examinations are given, designed to test the student's ability to apply his knowledge. Failures or conditions in more than one-third of the work carried will sever the student's connection with the school. It is within the discretion of the law faculty to reinstate such students on proper petition and showing. A student who receives a failure in any course must take the course over. All conditions received in either semester must be removed at examinations held for that purpose at the opening of the school the following September. Students should arrange in advance for such examinations, which will be given but once and which will not be given to students enrolling late. Third year students will be given an opportunity to remove their first semester conditions at the time of the regular second semester examinations at the end of the year. In order to pass such examinations for the removal of conditions the student is required to manifest a higher proficiency than is sufficient in the original examination. Students failing to take the regular examinations or to remove their conditions will receive the grade "F." No special examinations will be held.

ENROLLMENT

For information about enrollment, see "Method of Enrollment" under "General Information."

NEW LAW BUILDING

Monnet Hall, the new law building costing $125,000.00, has been occupied since the opening of the session in September, 1913. It is 132 feet long and 55 feet wide with additional 14 foot entrance projections on the east and west. It is built in solid Bedford stone, its architectural lines following in the main those of University Hall. It is centrally located overlooking the oval, and constitutes one of the wings of the permanent group of buildings of which University Hall is the center. It has three stories and a basement and contains every feature necessary for a modern law school. This building is one of unusual beauty, solidity, and convenience. It is fireproof throughout. This building together with the provision made by the governing authorities of the university for large additions to the law library, and the law recently enacted providing for the exchange of Oklahoma law books with other states for the benefit of the law school library, places the School of Law on an equal footing with the state university law schools of other leading states and assures its rapid development and prosperity.

LIBRARY

The law library, constantly growing, contains several thousand volumes. These books have been carefully selected and the list contains most of the essentials. Other installments will be procured from time to time, as it is the purpose of the school to build up rapidly a library that will answer all the purposes of legal study and investigation. The leading law journals are kept constantly on file. A member of the law faculty has general supervision of the library, and student assistant librarians are in charge to give needed information and maintain order. The library is open during the day and in the evening. Students in the School of Law also have access to the general university library, and have all the advantages and privileges of other students in the university.

Bulletin Board

A bulletin board is maintained on which all official notices are posted, and all such notices are considered personal notices to the student or students concerned.

SPECIAL LECTURES

Short courses of lectures will be delivered by members of the supreme court, criminal court of appeals, and by prominent judges, attorneys and state officials. These courses are required of first year students; second and third year students may attend them.

PRACTICE COURT

In addition to the courses in pleading and practice, and the practical suggestions given throughout the courses by the regular instructors and the special lecturers, a practice court is maintained in order to afford the student an opportunity of acquainting himself with the regular sequence of steps in litigation and of learning by actual experience what actions or proceedings should be brought, how to bring them, and how to handle the case until its close. Students act as attorneys, sheriffs, clerks, parties, witnesses, jurors, etc., and every effort is made to reproduce the conditions of actual practice in the Oklahoma courts. This work is supplemented by lectures pointing out errors and discussing questions of procedure of a more general nature applicable also to other jurisdictions. The presiding instructor is an attorney of experience and the aim is to supply as far as possible an actual working knowledge of trial procedure so that a graduate on leaving the school will be prepared at once to enter upon all phases of the work of the profession.

Third year men act as leading counsel, second year men as junior counsel, and first year men as jurors, officers, etc. Such practice court work is required of all students, and first year men may be given one hour's credit each semester for this together with the courses of special lectures.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

Students are encouraged to take an active part in the law literary societies, and to organize quiz clubs and club courts for legal discussion. There are a number of law literary societies, club courts, and student bars that are very active and profitable organizations for practice in argumentation and the presentation and trial of questions of law.

PRIZES

American Law Book Company Prize: The American Law Book Company offers to a third year student a prize consisting of the Cyclopedia of Law and Procedure to be awarded at the discretion of the law faculty. This prize, valued at over $200, the faculty has decided to award at the time of graduation to the most meritorious student in the third year class, taking into consideration the entire course. The award will be based on grades in examinations, classroom proficiency, ability in logical and succinct statement, interest displayed in club courts and other law school activities, use of the library, and strength of character.

The Callaghan & Company Prize: Callaghan & Company, Law Publishers, of Chicago, offer the Cyclopedic Law Dictionary as an annual prize to the student in the second year class who attains the highest proficiency and the best general average for the year.

The Blackstone Institute Prize: The Blackstone Institute of Chicago offers Modern American Law, a fifteen volume legal encyclopedia, valued at $75, as an annual prize to the third year student presenting the best thesis on some local or special jurisdiction subject designated by the faculty.

For description of other prizes available to law students see scholarships and prizes, under "General Information" in the general catalogue.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

All students in the School of Law, who have not had one year of college work, or work in some other law school entitling them to one year's advanced standing, are required to take physical training to the extent of two hours during their course under the direction of the physical director of the university. Such "hour" represents approximately three hours of exercise a week during a period of time equal to one semester. Students engaging in special athletic activities are with the consent of the physical director allowed to substitute these for the regular physical training. This rule with reference to physical training is believed to make for well-balanced educational development.

ADMISSION AND GRADUATION

THREE YEAR COURSE

The work of the School of Law extends through three college years. There are three classes: the First Year Class, Second Year Class, and Third Year Class. Lectures and recitations are held on five days in the week, principally in the usual morning hours. Students may enter at the beginning of either semester. Late registration should be avoided.

ADMISSION

Applicants for admission to the School of Law must be at least eighteen years of age and must present evidence of having completed fifteen units of acceptable entrance credit. A unit is the standard amount of work required in a secondary school subject given thirty-six weeks with five recitation periods a week of at least forty-five minutes each. Thus fifteen units represent an ordinary four years' high school course.

The following units are required for admission to the School of Law:

English .....	3 units
Mathematics .....	2 units
*Electives .....	10 units
Total .....	15 units

*A description of all work that may be offered to satisfy the required or elective units as well as a statement of the ways in which credit may be secured for work done in high school may be found in the university catalogue, under the head of "Admission."

SPECIAL STUDENTS

Applicants, not less than 21 years of age and not candidates for the degree, who do not possess the above educational qualifications for admission of regular students, may be admitted to the courses in the School of Law provided they can satisfy the dean that they are prepared to carry the work successfully. Such students will be expected to conform to the same requirements as to attendance and examination and will be entitled to the same privileges as regular students. Certificates stating the branches completed and the standing attained will be given to such students who have been in residence for a semester.

Such special students who have completed the curriculum and have been in residence three years may be recommended for a degree by special action by the law faculty, provided that they have displayed unusual ability and scholarship.

ADVANCED STANDING

Applicants qualified to enter the School of Law as candidates for a degree, who have satisfactorily completed one or more years of resident work in a law school of good standing having a three years' course, will be given equivalent rank in this school upon presenting properly authenticated certificates of such work. The right is reserved to give credit only on examination. All persons who intend to apply for advanced standing under the above rule should forward or present their credentials to the dean at least one week before the opening of the particular session which they desire to attend.

Such certificate should show the length of time in semester hours given to each subject, the books used as the basis of instruction, the method of grading used in such school, the grades made by the applicant, and whether the school has a three years' course. Credit will never be given for more than two years' work done in other schools. No credit will be given for reading or work done elsewhere than in an approved law school.

GRADUATION

The degree of Bachelor of Laws (LL. B.) is conferred upon all regular students not less than 21 years of age who have completed the prescribed work of the course. This course requires three years for its completion and no student is allowed to graduate except after three years of actual residence, unless in case of admission to advanced standing, in which case he must likewise have spent sufficient time in some other acceptable law school having a three years' course, to amount to a total of three years when added to the time spent here. The time spent in residence at this law school must in every instance be at least the last year. In exceptional cases the degree may be conferred on special students. See provisions as to special students.

LAW ELECTIVES—ADDITIONAL WORK

Under certain circumstances seniors in the College of Arts and Sciences may elect all or part of their last year's work in the School of Law in such a way as to enable them to secure the B. A., and the LL. B.

degrees in six years instead of the seven regularly required. The following regulation applies to such students together with all others pursuing courses in the School of Law, viz: No student in the School of Law who is taking the full course in law shall be allowed to take additional courses elsewhere at the same time except upon permission of the dean and petition to the faculty. No student shall be entitled to take such additional work as a matter of course, and no such petition will be granted unless he can convince the faculty that it will not decrease the amount of time spent upon his legal studies and that it will be for his best interest and the best interests of the School of Law. Students enrolled in the School of Law for more than half of the full law course shall likewise be entitled to take additional work elsewhere only on the above conditions.

ADMISSION TO BAR

Under statutory authority the Supreme Court of this state has prescribed and published rules governing admission to the bar. These rules require that the candidate must be of good moral character and over 21 years of age; and that he shall satisfactorily answer the written interrogatories propounded covering the subjects enumerated. These subjects are all included in the curriculum of the School of Law. As to educational qualifications and length of the period of legal study required, candidates are referred to the rules. Examinations are held at convenient intervals and are conducted by a regular commission of bar examiners duly appointed by the Supreme Court.

By a ruling of the State Bar Commission, graduates of the School of Law are admitted to the bar without examination. They may then be admitted on motion to practice law in the federal courts of this state.

EXPENSES

Tuition is free in the School of Law as in all other departments of the university, to residents of Oklahoma. All students will be held responsible for damage to or loss of equipment and instruments and no credit will be granted or grades reported to students neglecting to pay the actual cost of such loss or damage, nor will honorable dismissal be granted such students.

A fee of $5.00 for a student enterprise ticket will be collected from each student at the time of registration. This ticket entitles the student to admission to all lecture course numbers, debating, athletic, musical, oratorical, dramatic, and other general university affairs. The payment of this fee is not compulsory but it is expected that each student will purchase the ticket because of the many advantages accruing therefrom; it is necessary that every student buy one in order to make this plan of supporting student affairs a success. It is hoped, therefore, that the loyalty of the students toward the general interests of the university will be such that there will be no requests for exemption from this payment.

NON-RESIDENT TUITION FEES

All students who are not residents of the State of Oklahoma at the time of registration will be charged tuition at the same rate that would be charged a resident of Oklahoma taking the same courses in the state university of the state in which said candidate is a resident, said amount to be equivalent to the amount required for tuition fees, incidental, and residential fees, of whatever name or nature, except library and laboratory fees.

Refunds

Students withdrawing prior to November 1st in the first semester or prior to April 1st in the second semester will receive a rebate of one-half the non-resident tuition fee for that semester; students enrolling after November 15th or April 15th will pay one-half the tuition fee indicated.

No refund will be made to any student expelled, suspended or requested to withdraw on account of conduct or poor scholarship.

Residence

The burden of registering under proper residence is placed upon the student; and it is the duty of each student at matriculation and each subsequent registration, if there be any possible question of his right to residence in Oklahoma, under the rules of the Board of Education, to raise the question with the university and have the question passed upon and settled, previous to registration.

BOARD, ROOMS, AND BOOKS

Board, including furnished rooms, can be had for from $4.00 to $6.00 a week. The average cost of living is as low in Norman as in any other town of its size in the state. Board alone costs from $3.50 to $4.50. Rooms for two may be secured for $6 to $14 a month.

The cost of books used in the School of Law is about $35 a year.

If further information is desired as to any of the matters set forth in this catalogue, inquiries should be addressed to

The Dean of the School of Law,
Norman, Oklahoma.

CURRICULUM

The hour which constitutes the unit of credit as used in this catalogue except with reference to physical training is understood to mean one lecture hour a week, or its equivalent, for one semester.

It is desired that every student who enters the School of Law shall take full and not partial work, unless the circumstances be exceptional. A member of the first year class will not be permitted to take any regular course of the second and third year, and a member of the second year class will not be permitted to take third year courses unless for special cause shown and then only by permission of the dean.

Instruction is so arranged as to present fundamental subjects first, followed by specialized subjects later.

The University Bulletin has been established by the university. The reasons that have led to such a step are: first, to provide a means to set before the people of Oklahoma, from time to time, information about the work of the different departments of the university; and, second, to provide a way for the publishing of departmental reports, papers, theses, and such other matter as the university believes would be helpful to the cause of education in our state. The Bulletin will be sent post free to all who apply for it. The university desires especially to exchange with other schools and colleges for similar publications.
